GUANTANAMO CLOSING

1 President Barack Obama launched a final push Tuesday to persuade Congress to close the military prison at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, but lawmakers, opposed to rehousing detainees in the United States, declared his plan a nonstarter. In White House remarks, Obama pleaded with the Republican-led Congress to give his proposal a "fair hearing." He said he did not want to pass along the issue to his successor next January. REUTERS

YAHOO'S CORE BUSINESS

2 Time Inc. has been exploring a bid to acquire the core Internet business of Yahoo Inc. for several weeks, a source familiar with the situation told Reuters on Tuesday. Time Inc. has been reaching out to bankers on pursuing a deal with Yahoo, according to the source, who wished to remain anonymous because they were not permitted to speak to the media. It is unclear if the company has retained an investment bank as financial adviser on the potential bid. Yahoo officially launched the sale of its core business last week. REUTERS

PLASTIC IN SNICKERS

3 Mars Inc. has recalled chocolate bars and other products in 55 countries, mainly in Europe, after a piece of plastic was found in a Snickers bar in Germany. All of the recalled products, which include Mars, Snickers and Milky Way bars, were manufactured at a factory in Veghel, Netherlands, according to a Mars spokeswoman. They were sold in European countries including Germany, France and Britain, and in certain countries in Asia. REUTERS

FDNY SETTLEMENT

4 Five firefighters and their families have been awarded $183 million by a jury following a trial stemming from a deadly 2005 apartment building blaze on a day that became known as "Black Sunday." The fire, which tore through a tenement in the Bronx on Jan. 23, 2005, killed two firefighters and severely injured four others. One of the injured men died in 2011. The city will shoulder $140 million of the award. The building's owner, which settled with the families before the verdict was announced, will pay the remainder through its insurer. REUTERS

TODDLER KILLED IN BLAZE

5 An early morning fire took the life of a 2-year-old boy in Bed-Stuy, ABC New York reports. The one-alarm fire happened at 755 Monroe St. just before 7 a.m. Tuesday. Fire crews reportedly had the flames under control in an hour, Patch reported. ABC said hours after the fire had been put out a woman told investigators she couldn't find her son. Investigators searched the home and found the boy's body under a bed. MATT LEE

BRONX FIRE INJURES SIX

6 An early morning Bronx fire that injured at least six now has firefighters investigating what started the four-alarm blaze. Flames erupted from the building at 1893 Andrews Ave. in Morris Heights around 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, NY1 reported. Officials believe the fire started in a fifth-floor apartment. Five residents and one firefighter were injured in the blaze. The Red Cross is working with about 10 families who were displaced by the fire.

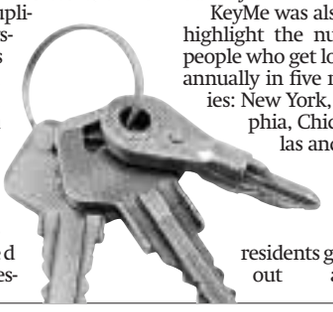
New study reveals how likely you are to lose your keys

New Yorkers are almost twice as probable to get locked out compared to Bostonians.

ANGY ALTAMIRANO
@MetroNewYork
letters@metro.us

Getting locked out of your home can really put a huge damper on your day, however a new data study shows that it happens more often than you think.

New York City-based KeyMe — a cloud-based locksmith that allows users to store, share and duplicate physical keys using a digital scan on their mobile devices — released data Tuesday on lockout trends throughout the nation.



The information in KeyMe's study is based on user data from the service and third party statistics from leading U.S. data providers.

According to the data, men are 36 percent more likely to get locked out than women, while single people are 15 percent more likely to get locked out than married individuals.

More than 51 percent of all lockouts happen in the afternoon hours and 29 percent of them take place on Saturdays — with 21.8 percent of lockouts happening on Sundays.

KeyMe was also able to highlight the number of people who get locked out annually in five major cities: New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Dallas and Boston.

In Philadelphia, 657,128 residents get locked out annually; 533,279 residents in Chicago; 105,395 residents in Dallas; and 49,464 in Boston.

New York City had the largest number of the five cities with 1,912,780 residents getting locked out of their homes per year.

According to KeyMe, residents in Manhattan's Lower East Side have a 43 percent chance of getting locked out in the next 12 months, with Chelsea residents running a chance of 36 percent.

By the numbers

- 1,912,780 New Yorkers get locked out each year.
- Men are 36% more likely to get locked out than women.
- Single people are 15% more likely to get locked out than married individuals.
- 51% of all lockouts happen in the afternoon.

"Owlstein Owl" EVE DEVORE

Owling around in Brooklyn

Brooklyn artist transforms subjects into owls to show personalities.

ANGY ALTAMIRANO
@MetroNewYork
letters@metro.us

For Eve Devore, art was always there to help her through hard times, and now she hopes to help add some color to the lives of others through her unique style of portraits.

Devore is a Brooklyn-based artist who has chosen to explore human personality through "owlizing" people and humanizing owls. This means that the 29-year-old artist turns the subjects of her portraits — whether every day people or important figures — into colorful owls with the goal of bringing individual personalities out in each work of art.

"I see personality first. Before I complete an owl, I want to know the personality deeper, I want to highlight different features about the personality and other very interesting parts," she said. " [I want] to show uniqueness of each of us."

And although Devore is now on the verge of launching her own greeting card line, art wasn't always the career path she took.

The Ukraine native used to be a fashion model and also received her master's degree in electrical engineering back in her home country. But art was always in the back of her mind.

Coming from a whole family of engineers — with her parents owning a company in Ukraine — Devore was always told to find "a real job" and keep art as a hobby. She dedicated her time to keeping her education her top priority but always felt like something was missing.

After graduating, Devore worked as an engineer in Ukraine and although the position was successful, she said she did not like it and felt it was boring.

In 2012, she made the move to New York City to make her dreams of becoming an artist happen.

After struggling to find her own voice in the field, Devore stumbled upon the owl.

"I wanted to do something that was me, not copying someone else. I was struggling to find my own voice. I just sat down one day and I drew an owl," she said.

When it comes to her owls, Devore has depicted individuals such as Frida Kahlo, Albert Einstein and Salvador Dali. Her owls also portray iconic New York symbols, specific emotions and seasons, and characters such as chefs — inspired by her husband — princesses, geishas, and many more — including an upcoming portrait of a cat.

For more information or to order a portrait, visit www.evedevore.com.

"Every person has an energy and I always try to see good things in people. I find the world right now is going crazy and I try to find positive things." Eve Devore

Man gets 50 years for killing parents in separate 'cold-blooded' murders

A Queens man could spend the rest of his life behind bars after he brutally murdered his parents more than a year apart, prosecutors said.

"This was a heinous case of cold-blooded murder and the ultimate betrayal of family trust," Queens District Attorney Richard A. Brown said in a statement.

Gregory Cucchiara, 40, formerly of Bayside, Queens, was convicted last month of two counts of second-degree murder. He was sentenced Tuesday to 50 years to life in prison.

His sentence comes more than three years after the first killing was committed.

According to trial testimony, 66-year-old Giusepina Cucchiara, his mother, was found dead in the family's 28th Avenue home on May 24, 2011. She had been struck on the head with a perfume bottle and choked with the pearl necklace before having her head forced below the water in the bathtub, investigators said.

Following his wife's death, Carmelo Cucchiara, 75, moved out of the family's Bayside home, and went to live in the basement apartment of his daughter's Astoria home. On August 21, 2012, she found him lying in bed with a pillow covering his face. His son was the last person to see him alive that previous evening during a visit to the apartment.

According to prosecutors, the elder Cucchiara also "had bruising on his forehead and his body was cold." His cause of death was determined to be asphyxiation, and he had blunt force trauma to his head.

Cucchiara was arrested on Nov. 13, 2012, after DNA evidence connected him to both crimes. CRISTABELLE TUMOLA

CompStat 2.0 offers interactive crime data with specific locations, dates and times.

ANGY ALTAMIRANO
@MetroNewYork
letters@metro.us

The NYPD is stepping into the 21st century and giving New Yorkers the tool they need to know what is going on in their neighborhoods.

Mayor Bill de Blasio and Police Commissioner Bill Bratton announced Tuesday the launch of CompStat 2.0, a tool that will offer the public and authorities the access to crime information from throughout the city.

Prior to launching CompStat 2.0, crime data was reported based on the seven major crime categories with no additional information on date, time or specific type of crime within the category.

Now, by visiting compstat.nypdonline.org, the public can access crime data including all the additional information, even down to accurate location mapping down to the closest intersection.

The website shows the NYPD crime statistics that have been recorded in the CompStat book, where periods run from Monday through Sunday.

CompStat 2.0 maps out the state's penal law crimes — which are murder and non-negligent manslaughter, rape, robbery, felonious assault, burglary, grand larceny and grand larceny motor vehicle — and includes crimes recorded by the Port Authority and other police agencies operating within the city.

During Monday's announcement, officials also focused on the NYPD's initiative — which was launched last summer — offering smartphones to all police officers. Since its launch, 25,000 phones have been distributed with the remaining phones to be given out by this spring.

Bratton added that through the smartphones and customized NYPD software and mobile applications, police officers have been able to offer faster responses and more informed decisions.

Greenwich Village slashing suspect in police custody

Police have announced that a suspect wanted in connection to a slashing attack on a worker in a popular Greenwich Village eatery is now in custody.

Last Wednesday, police said the suspect, accompanied by three others, entered Silver Spurs Diner at 490 LaGuardia Place around 8 p.m. After being asked to leave the restaurant for asking customers for money, the suspect allegedly returned five minutes later and attacked a 25-year-old worker.

In the days that followed, police released photos of the suspect and the three people with him that night. He was described as between the ages of 15 and 18, though police have not released any additional personal information, including his name.

At this time, charges are pending, and the investigation remains ongoing, police have said. JASON NUCKOLLS

Woman found dead in office
Police are investigating the death of a woman who was found dead inside a Manhattan office. At about 12 p.m. Monday cops discovered the victim — whom they didn't identify — unresponsive lying face down inside an office at 224 W. 35th St., according to authorities. Emergency personnel pronounced the woman dead at the scene. According to the New York Daily News, cops said the woman is believed to have been in her 30s and was found naked inside the vacant office. Investigators also reportedly believe the victim has a drug addiction. No arrests have been made. ANGY ALTAMIRANO

Uber driver swapped cars during rampage

Authorities say Dalton had no prior criminal record.

Jason Dalton KALAMAZOO COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT.

"He's in here enough for me to know he talks to the guys about guns and different stuff."

Gun shop employee

The Michigan Uber driver charged with murdering six people switched vehicles after sideswiping a car at the start of the shooting spree, authorities said Tuesday, adding that they hoped his phone would help establish a motive for the killings.

It also was revealed that the driver, Jason Dalton, visited a gun shop shortly before the rampage and bought a heavy duty jacket that could conceal a small pistol.

Dalton, 45, was denied bail Monday after a court hearing in which a detective testified that he admitted to the five-hour shooting rampage over the weekend in Kalamazoo, Michigan, about 150 miles west of Detroit.

Less than three hours before the first shooting occurred on Saturday evening, Dalton and a friend visited Southwick's, a gun shop he frequented in nearby Plainwell, a shop employee told Reuters.

While Dalton is a regular customer who usually spends time chatting with the staff, he bought the jacket and left the crowded store within about 10 minutes, said the employee, who asked not to be identified.

Searching for a motive for the violence, investigators are now focusing on a gun and a cell phone seized from Dalton and reports that he drove fares for the Uber car-hailing service in between the shooting episodes, said Paul Matyas of the Kalamazoo County Sheriff's Department.

Clinton aides to be questioned under oath on emails, judge orders

A federal judge ruled Tuesday that State Department officials and aides to Hillary Clinton should be questioned under oath about whether the former secretary of state's private email system was an effort to skirt open-records laws.

U.S. District Judge Emmet G. Sullivan ordered the State Department and Judicial Watch, the conservative watchdog group suing the department for records about the employment of a senior Clinton aide, come up with a plan for the depositions and other discovery by April.

Clinton is vying to become the Democratic Party's presidential candidate ahead of the election this November.

Hillary Clinton GETTY IMAGES

Her use of a private server in her New York home for her government work is being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the State Department's internal watchdog and several Republican-controlled congressional committees.

Last year she apologized for the setup, several months after it came to light last March. She said she broke no rules.

The State Department said it was reviewing the order but could not comment on ongoing litigation. The department may appeal the ruling.

Tom Fitton, Judicial Watch's president, called the ruling "a major victory for the public's right to know the truth about Hillary Clinton's email system." His group will propose that the testimony include former State Department officials, and may also seek to have Clinton give testimony.

Can Baby Boomers Avoid Knee Surgery With Modern Arthritis Treatments?

Doctors say these two factors are the keys to knee arthritis treatment success and relieving pain without surgery

By Matt Edgar

America's Health Writer

New York City - Everyone has said it at one time or another. If I had only known about "this" sooner - things would be very different today.

That's what many knee arthritis pain sufferers are saying about this technology and treatment.

"We all know that countless lives are being saved every year because of early detection and better treatment of cancer," noted the clinic director at the OsteoRelief Institute in New York City. "The same holds true for treating knee arthritis pain. I believe we are having so much success at OsteoRelief Institute because of two factors: One is we are using advanced medical technology and treatments a lot of clinics do not use. And second, the word has spread to our community and so many knee arthritis sufferers are coming in sooner. And the earlier we can treat knee arthritis - the better the results. The key to avoiding knee replacement surgery is doing the correct treatments as soon as possible."

What is the "correct treatment?"

"That depends," said the director. "There is no one answer when it comes to medical conditions and knee arthritis is no different. That's why, if you have knee pain, you should have it evaluated by a doctor who deals with and treats knee pain every day," added the director.

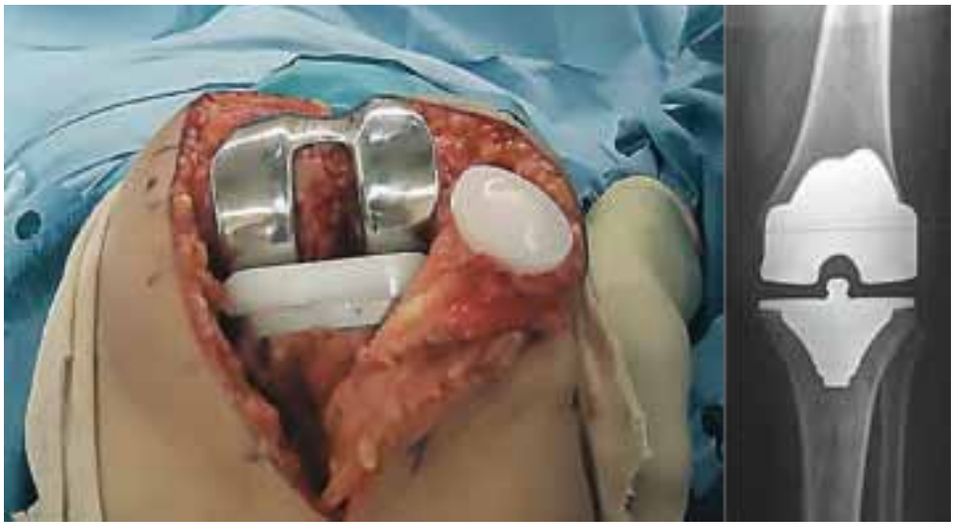
For many knee arthritis pain sufferers the right treatments is viscosupplementation. In this treatment, a preparation of Hyaluronic acid (such as Hyalgan) is injected directly into the knee joint.

Hyaluronic acid is a natural lubricant and shock absorber of your joints and is found to be decreased in arthritis sufferers. This is similar to running your car low or without oil. Obviously, the sooner you put oil back in the car - the less damage will be done. That's why some doctors feel early viscosupplementation gets the best results and is so important for avoiding surgery.

The director, believes one of the most important factors for the success of viscosupplementation is making sure you are getting it into the joint space. That's why the doctors at OsteoRelief Institute use advanced imaging technology called a "C-Arm."

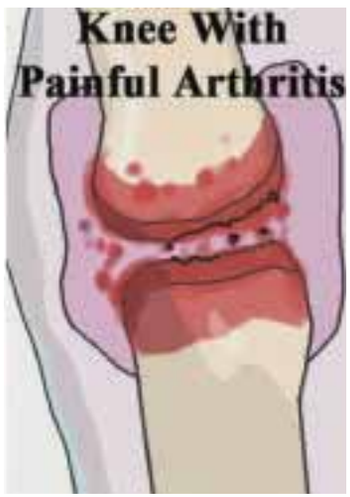
A C-Arm allows the doctor to see into the joint and actually watch the injection go where it is supposed to. Research shows that performing injections without digital imaging can result in missing the joint space as much as 30% of the time. If you had viscosupplementation treatments without advanced imagining and did not get good results - this may be why.

"If you have knee arthritis pain, viscosupplementation might be the answer you are looking for. The keys are to not wait, get a good evaluation from an expert and make sure advanced digital imaging (C-Arm) is used to make sure you have the best chance for success."



Can This Be Avoided? Total knee replacement is serious surgery requiring months of rehabilitation. Some doctors think modern treatments done early enough can keep baby boomers from going under the knife.

Everyone Wants Proof: In the artist simulated drawings above, picture #1 is a normal, pain-free knee. There is no arthritis and the knee can move and bend freely without pain.



Pain - the red is a knee joint with painful osteo-arthritis. Arthritis causes the joint space to decrease, grinding, stiffness, decreased motion, bone spurs, swelling and a lot of pain.

Successful Treatment - Hyalgan (blue) being precisely injected directly into the knee joint using laser guided hologic imaging. Advanced imaging allows treatments to be as precise as possible. Hyalgan can lubricate the joint and decrease pain.

Failed Treatment - the injection (and Hyalgan) misses the joint space. Research shows this occurs up to 30% of the time without the use of laser guided hologic imaging to guide the injection. This is why Hyalgan may not have worked for you.

Knee Pain Screenings Offered To Help Determine If New York Metro Area Residents Qualify For Popular Treatment

Knee pain sufferers have limited time to claim knee pain screening to see if all-natural knee arthritis treatment might work for them

If you qualify for this treatment, it might be one of the happiest days of your life.

That's because, for the past year and a half, hundreds of knee pain sufferers have flocked to OsteoRelief Institute New York City.

That's when their specially trained-doctors added Hyalgan treatments to their already successful comprehensive knee pain relief program.

Viscosupplementation is unique because - even-though it is manufactured by a pharmaceutical company, it is NOT considered a drug because it is a natural substance with an incredible story.

Why So Many Want It

You see, when you suffer with arthritis - the lubricating fluid (synovial fluid) in your knee joint dries up.

This means instead of gliding smoothly - your bones start to rub and grind against each other.

This causes a little pain in the beginning - but over time the pain steadily gets worse until it is excruciating.

Like "Joint Oil"

Viscosupplementation works so well because it is like 'joint oil." It is a natural substance that contains one of the natural building blocks of the synovial fluid that lubricates your knee.

Scientists and researchers discovered this natural building block to synovial fluid in the rooster's comb - that big red thing on top of the roosters head. It is extracted from the roosters comb, purified and concentrated.

When it is injected directly into your knee joint, it is like squirting oil on a rusty door hinge.

Viscosupplementation allows your joints to glide more smoothly eliminating a lot of the rubbing, grinding and pain.

Can Supplements Do The Same Thing?

No. Glucosamine and chondroitin and other supplements are much different. You can only get this from a doctor and it often helps knee pain sufferers who got limited or no success from glucosamine and chondroitin. Beware of unsubstantiated claims made by supplements to do what this advanced medical procedure does.

Why You Should Try This Even If You've Already Had Similar Treatments Without Results...

"We have been able to help so many knee pain sufferers - even many who have already tried other injections like Synvisc, Supartz, Orthovisc and even Hyalgan. We use special and very advanced advanced low dose video flouroscopy imaging called "Hologic Digital Imaging" so we can see right into the joint. This allows us to put the Viscosupplementation exactly where is needs to be. Studies show doctors doing joint injections without flouroscopy miss the joint up to 30% of the time." said the director of Arthritis Treatment at Osteorelief Institute.

OsteoRelief Institute is a state of the art medical facility offering only the best technology.

"Every case is individual. Some patients get quite a bit of relief right away - others take a little more time. But most have been extremely happy. We've noted results lasting no less than 6 months for many but up to 2 years for some patients.. Patients who were suffering for years with bad knee pain are getting their lives back... going for walks again and exercising. It's amazing to see. They tell all their friends - that's why we are swarmed. I can't tell you how many patients have cancelled their total knee replacement surgeries." added the director.

How To Get I

If you have knee pain, the director would like to invite you for a no obligation screening to see if you are a candidate for Hyalgan treatments.

Advanced Medical Technology Can Make All The Difference: This advanced digital imaging called a C-arm allows doctors to see directly into the knee joint so treatments are precise and the Hyalgan actually goes where it is supposed to. Studies show that injections done without digital imaging can miss the joint up to 30% of the time. This is one reason Hyalgan or other Viscosupplementation may not have worked for you. OsteoRelief Institute uses this C-arm for every Hyalgan treatment.

All you have to do is call 800-227-KNEE (5633) right now and when the scheduling specialist answers the phone tell her you would like your no obligation "Knee Pain Screening." The specialists at OsteoRelief Institute can only accept a limited amount of new patients each month for this screening - so if you are interested please call now. Your no obligation screening will only take about 25-30 minutes... you will get all your questions answered and leave knowing if you have possibly found the solution to your knee pain.

And here's something really important - Viscosupplementation treatments are covered by most insurance and medicare. To schedule your no obligation screening or if you have any questions call 800-227-KNEE (5633).

If You Can Answer Yes -You Are Eligible For A Knee Arthritis Screening With The Experts At OsteoRelief Institute

- Do you have pain and osteoarthritis (arthritis) of the knee?
- Have you tried other treatments such as NSAIDS and other anti-inflamatory medications without success?
- Have you already tried viscosupplementation (Hyalgan, Suparz, Synvisc) without satisfactory results?

If you answered yes to any of these questions - give OsteoRelief Institute a call and schedule your no obligation knee pain screening 800-227-KNEE (5633).

North Korea warns against US, South Korea military exercises

North Korea warned on Tuesday of harsh retaliation against South Korea and its ally the United States, which are preparing for annual joint military exercises next month amid heightened tensions following the North's nuclear test and rocket launch.

The North calls the annual exercises preparations for war and routinely vows to retaliate.

"All the powerful strategic and tactical strike means of our revolutionary armed forces will go into preemptive and just operation to beat back the enemy forces to the last man if there is a slight sign of their special operation forces and equipment moving to carry out the so-called 'beheading operation' and 'high-density strike,'" the Supreme Command of the Korean People's Army said in a statement carried by state media.

Kim Jong Un GETTY IMAGES

It said its first target would be South Korea's presidential Blue House, while U.S. military bases in Asia and on the U.S. mainland would be its secondary targets. About 28,500 U.S. troops are based in South Korea.

Last week, South Korean President Park Geun-hye warned of tough measures against the North following its January nuclear test and its long-range rocket launch this month, saying Pyongyang's pursuit of nuclear weapons would speed the collapse of the regime.

South Korea and the United States say both actions were violations of U.N. Security Council resolutions, and are pushing for further sanctions.

Days after the rocket launch, South Korea suspended the operation of the Kaesong industrial zone just north of the border, which had been run jointly with the North for more than a decade. REUTERS

Pa. fracking trial begins, pitting families against driller

Cabot Oil & Gas Co. contaminated drinking water for two Pennsylvania families in its rush to begin fracking operations during the state's natural gas boom, a lawyer told a federal jury in Scranton, Pennsylvania, on Tuesday at the start of a civil trial.

Leslie Lewis, who represents two families from the town of Dimock, told a six-member jury that Cabot had shown "reckless disregard" for the safety of her clients and other local residents.

But Stephen Dillard, a lawyer for the Houston-based energy company, said in his opening statement that the town's groundwater already contains naturally occurring methane and that experts would testify humans cannot be harmed by methane-laced water.

"The issues they have are cosmetic and aesthetic," Dillard said. "Those can be treated, but it's not toxic."

Dimock figured prominently in the 2010 Oscar-nominated documentary "Gasland," which examined the controversial practice of hydraulic fracturing, or fracking, to extract natural gas from underground shale formations.

The movie showed tap water in Dimock that could be set on fire due to the methane it contained.

Scott Ely and his wife, Monica Marta-Ely, and Ray and Victoria Hubert are seeking compensatory and punitive damages from Cabot. They are the last of about 40 plaintiffs who sued Cabot in 2009; the others have settled with the company.

U.S. Magistrate Judge Martin Carlson rejected Lewis' request to introduce a bottle of coffee-and-cream colored water drawn from the Ely well Tuesday morning as evidence. He said the deadline for submitting new exhibits had passed and that jurors could view photos of the turbid water already in evidence.

Dillard told jurors scientific evidence would show there is no underground pathway between nearby gas wells and the families' water wells.

The trial is expected to last two weeks. REUTERS

Award-Winning Vein Clinic Announces Opening of New Office in Astoria

Nation's only coast-to-coast vein clinic offers minimally invasive varicose vein treatments

Astoria, New York, – February 8, 2016: USA Vein Clinics, the only coast-to-coast vein clinic system in the United States, has announced its plans to open a new office in Astoria. This brings to 32, the number of offices that the award winning USA Vein Clinic has across the country. The new office is located at 30-33 Steinway, in Astoria. USA Vein Clinics (USAVC) has been voted "Best Vein Clinic" numerous times because of the advanced medical treatments it offers and its documented 100% customer satisfaction rating from patients with varicose veins and other venous insufficiency conditions. The ability to detect and treat potentially life-threatening venous insufficiency conditions is one of the reasons why USAVC is the only clinic with office locations spanning the nation.

USAVC provides the most advanced, minimally invasive varicose vein treatments available on the market today, including Endovenous Laser Therapy (EVLT). Both of these procedures have a proven track record of positive outcomes and the highest documented rates of reduced pain and increased patient comfort.

The skill of USAVC specialists is proven by the positive outcomes experienced by patients. "We are fortunate to have vascular specialists with the skill and experience to detect and stop potentially fatal venous insufficiency conditions in their tracks," said USA Vein Clinics founder Yan Katsnelson, MD. "While many patients believe their problem is aching varicose veins, we sometimes find that another much more serious, and potentially life threatening venous insufficiency condition is lurking in the background, such as peripheral arterial disease (PAD). "We detect and treat these conditions, and return our patients to healthy lives."

Anyone experiencing leg aches or cramps, heaviness in the legs, restless leg syndrome, itching or burning in the legs, discoloration or non-healing wounds in the legs or ankles are urged to call and schedule a consultation immediately, even if they do not have significant varicose or spider veins.

"Even though Venous Insufficiency can be serious," said Dr. Katsnelson, "treatment is quick, painless, effective, non-invasive and covered by Medicare and most insurance plans.

To find out more about the symptoms of Venous Insufficiency, or to schedule a minimally invasive treatment for varicose or spider veins, call USA Vein Clinics at 917-717-5135, or log onto www.usaveinclinics.com.

The doctors at USA Vein Clinics include graduates of Harvard and Stanford medical schools and are extensively trained in vascular medicine. USA Vein Clinics has offices in Los Angeles, Chicago, Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Tinton, New Jersey, Washington DC, Georgia and Arkansas.

Thirty million Americans suffer with varicose veins. Fifty percent of all people over the age of 50 have varicose veins and 300,000 people a year die due to complications of vein disease. Varicose veins are painful and can cause other health issues such as ulcers and blood clots. Age, family history, obesity and occupations that require standing on the feet all day are risk factors for varicose veins.

Eddie Redmayne takes British humility too far

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

How humble is Eddie Redmayne? So goddamn humble. For example, he's nominated for an Oscar for "The Danish Girl," but is he about to suggest he might win for Best Actor two years in a row? Of course not! "[Leonardo DiCaprio is] definitely going to win — and should," Redmayne tells the Telegraph's magazine. "I feel excited just to be invited to the party, frankly. For me to be considered in the group of nominees, with [Matt] Damon, DiCaprio, Michael Fassbender and Bryan Cranston — it feels amazing." OK, fine, we get it, Eddie. You're so modest. Stop bragging about how modest you are. But yes, this is totally DiCaprio's year.

Chloe Moretz thinks you're afraid of being a feminist

Hey gals, 19-year-old actress Chloe Grace Moretz is calling you out. While campaigning for Hillary Clinton in Nevada recently, the "Carrie" and "30 Rock" star tried to rationalize what's plaguing other young women in her age group. "There are a lot of young women who are terrified of being feminists," she tells Yahoo News. "Young women are afraid to stand up for who [they] are because we still live in a world in which it's not OK for us to be young, powerful, strong, well-spoken, educated young women. And that's why we need Hillary in office." Take that, Bernie Bros.

Now, whether you agree with Moretz on her choice of candidate to back, she does make some pretty interesting points about double standards when it comes to men and women and being outspoken about what they want. "You know, I go on dates with guys and a lot of them are mainly terrified of me because I have incredibly strong opinions on many things," she says. "I have a very strong stance on certain subjects, and if I was a man no one would question it. They would say, 'Wow he's a go-getter.' Whereas with a young woman, it's a bit polarizing and it's scary to see that with someone who is 5'5" with blonde hair and probably doesn't weigh more than 115 pounds." Terrifying? I think it's kind of cool.

Usually, titles are one of the last pieces of a movie to fall into place. Multiplex works the opposite way: Filmmakers get a title, then have to work backward to create a short film. Multiplex also believes brevity is the soul of inspiration, so each movie is no longer than six minutes and created within the last two months. This month, weather buffs are in for a treat: One of the films goes inside the "weather lair" of the foul-mouthed forecaster behind WEATHER IS HAPPENING.

You're gonna want — and sometimes need — a drink for this. Five speakers will have just 10 minutes at the microphone to tell you about their work, life or just a good story. Tonight, Untapped Cities editor Michelle Young covers the strangest true stories about New York City, music superfan Tanya Madorsky talks being "with the band" and Austrian brewer George Flickinger will discuss what makes the Trappist style of beermaking so rare (because at Jimmy's, you'll always learn something about beer). Then, a two-fer punch of family feelings: a flawed father is trying to do right by his son, as told by Moth StorySLAM winner Greg DeLucia, and bioethicist Dr. Elizabeth Yuko recounts the dubious circumstances of the first artificial insemination. Like father, like son

Kiefer Sutherland is beyond happy "Forsaken" gives him the chance to finally really act with his father.

MATT PRIGGE
matt.prigge@metro.us

Kiefer Sutherland can name one of his most restless nights of sleeping: the one before he had to act for the first time with his father. In "Forsaken," the actor, 47, and his dad, Donald, play estranged father and son. Inevitably the combination of heavy scenes and his pop's legacy got to him.

"The second we started working it all went away," Kiefer tells us. "There'd be moments in a scene when I was looking in my real father's eyes and there was no need to suspend my belief. It was real on some level, and quite cathartic. It's something I'll carry with me till I die."

In the film, Kiefer plays a gunslinger who returns home from the Civil War cured of his need for violence. Despite changing his ways, his father, a local pastor, remains furious with him. Making things worse are local ne'er-do-wells (led by Brian Cox) who have been stealing land by force, all but ensuring that Kiefer's John Henry Clayton will turn Jack Bauer — eventually and reluctantly.

"Forsaken" reunites Kiefer with someone else: director Jon Cassar, who helmed 59 episodes of "24." John Henry could be read as the anti-Jack Bauer: a dangerous man who doesn't want to unleash his darkest impulses. But subverting his screen persona wasn't what drew him to the project.

"My initial interest was to do a film with my father," Kiefer explains. "He's done so much extraordinary work and he's someone I've had great respect for as an actor. It just took me 38 years to get into a place to do this."

"Forsaken" isn't the first movie to feature both Sutherlands. They were in "A Time to Kill," though not at the same time, and Kiefer did a bit part in 1983's "Max Dugan Returns," though again they never exchanged dialogue. That film proved to be Kiefer's screen debut, and after being nominated for a Genie, the Canadian equivalent of the Oscar, for 1984's "The Bay Boy," he headed to Hollywood to follow in the footsteps of both his father and his mother, also an actor and who split with Donald when Kiefer was 4.

GETTY IMAGES

Though they've been in the same movies before, "Forsaken" marks the first time Donald and Kiefer Sutherland have exchanged dialogue (and played father and son). ENTERTAINMENT ONE

"I think both of them were concerned about me [becoming an actor]. I had left school at such an early age to do it that I didn't have a lot to fall back on, which I think concerned them the most. But I was driven to do it, and I'll always respect my parents — once they voiced their disapproval — for letting me find my way."

"Forsaken" returns Kiefer to the Western, a genre he started in back during 1988's "Young Guns" and its 1990 sequel. "I think 'Young Guns II' is a better movie, because all of us actors were a little older," he confesses. Those films also instilled a love for horses, which led him to become involved in rodeos, which he keeps up. He won his first roping competition in 1992, and only had to cut back in 2000, when "24" started and took over his life.

Sutherland has said he has no interest in returning to the show that made him big again after a bit of a slump. If he wanted to do more rodeo, he'd still have to contend with the fact that he's pushing 50.

"Driving a horse from zero to 40 mph in two strides is a little harder on my back," Kiefer says. But roping is still a snap. "You can actually get better at that over time. You just learn to control a rope and once you get that down it's no different than throwing a baseball. The problem is horsemanship: As you get older, the bones start to rickety-rack a little more."

3 Budget-friendly

Expert tips from a leading restaurant industry architect and designer.

MONICA WEYMOUTH

Give your favorite room a little love. ALL PHOTOS ISTOCK

Today, your kitchen looks great. Glorious, even. After spending months churning out pumpkin pies, Christmas cookies and comfy casseroles, it's your favorite room in the house, your go-to for all things cheesy and good.

Spring, however, is right around the corner, and with it comes some harsh truths: Those cabinets are dated. The counters are cluttered. According to sunlight, your backsplash has seen better days.

There's no need to overreact, however (let's be honest — your kitchen isn't the only one who let things go a bit over the holidays). Before you call a contractor and start knocking down walls, we checked in with architect and designer Glen Coben — whose firm's restaurant projects include New York City hot spots Del Posto, Gabriel Kreuther and Empellon al Pastor — for some budget-friendly, DIY makeover advice.

Do a thorough edit

Before purchasing a single thing, go through your kitchen and get rid of what you don't use —

kitchen tips

chances are, you don't actually need to invest in a fancy new storage system. "Part of a great kitchen is design, but part of it is editing," says Coben. "It's almost like when you're redoing your closets. When you do an analysis of what you actually use, you might be surprised. For an average home cook, that's probably two or three pans."
Rest in peace, pasta maker — we hardly knew ye.

Update your cabinets

Replacing cabinets is an expensive, time-consuming project. Sprucing them up, however, is another story. "A really effective way to change the look is to simply take the doors off and have open shelving," says Coben. "Invest in some new dinnerware, and the look is modern."
Just want to switch up the color? Coben recommends taking your cabinets to an auto body shop and having them spray-painted for a cheap, professional upgrade.

Rethink your color scheme

When he's designing restaurants, Coben opts for the traditional rich reds, warm yellows and cozy greens. At home, however, it can pay to take a risk. "Blue is a really unexpected color because, with the exception of the blueberry, you don't find it in the food world," he says. "You don't usually see it in a restaurant, but for a residential kitchen, it's a lovely choice."

Consider open shelving for an airy feel.

3 more quick upgrades

Cabinet hardware
Those dingy white knobs that plague rentals far and wide? Fun fact: They come off.

Mirrors
When installed as a backsplash, mirrors can open up a tiny galley kitchen.

Wallpaper
A little goes a long way. Think accent walls, or in the back of open-shelving cabinets for an unexpected pop of pattern.

Carmelo the key if Knicks have any shot at making run at the playoffs

Carmelo's patience is being tested but he'll have to lead in the second half.

TONY WILLIAMS
sports@metro.us

Carmelo Anthony and the Knicks will take on Paul George and the Pacers Wednesday night in Indiana. GETTY IMAGES

The Knicks finally earned their first post-All Star break win, and ended their seven-game skid last weekend, but they still remain far behind the pack for the eighth and final playoff seed.

Judging by the inactivity at the trade deadline, team president Phil Jackson must think they have just enough to eke into the playoff bracket — or more truthfully, the Knicks didn't have much value to trade, as they currently sit in the 12th spot in the Eastern Conference.

Standing pat also means Carmelo Anthony will need to carry the load almost single-handedly for the remaining 24 games. The All-Star forward, who has battled knee soreness most of the season, guaranteed he'll be available for the remainder of the season.

Other than having an all-time scorer on his roster, whatever mojo Jackson can cook up in his teepee will be needed, considering the franchise has sagged so much over the past month. The Knicks went from a team teetering around the .500 mark to losing 11 of 12 games and knocking themselves out of the playoff race, to seeing head coach Derek Fisher getting fired. The lack of movement around the trade deadline means this batch is all-in — for better or worse.

"We didn't make any moves, for whatever reason," Anthony said following a recent practice. "I really don't know what we could have done. That said, we need to believe in this group — [and] I've got to believe in this group even more."

This group consists of stellar rookie Kristaps Porzingis who's seemingly hit a wall in recent weeks, a slightly above-average sidekick in shooting guard Arron Afflalo, a center in Robin Lopez who sometimes dominates in the post, but mainly disappears, a high-energy, yet inconsistent bench, and a point guard in Jose Calderon who no team wanted at the deadline — including perhaps his own.

The key to the remaining games, though, is and always will be Anthony. His sometimes balky knee shows just how important his role is to the franchise, as the Knicks have displayed they can't win without him (0-7 record with him on the bench in a custom suit). The mission to go on a great run down the stretch may seem impossible to many, but should he choose to accept, Anthony will definitely earn the moniker of a franchise player.

His Saturday night performance in Minnesota was a great start, as he tallied 30 points, 11 rebounds, and four assists. He's seemingly taken to interim coach Kurt Rambis' tweak to the triangle offense, as he's been utilized more as a point-forward. Rambis, who played with the ultimate point forward in Magic Johnson, during his 1980s Showtime heyday, has often allowed Anthony to run the offense. The veteran has flourished in that role, averaging a career-high in assists (4.2).

Surely, Anthony's 21.6 points and eight rebounds per game are just as valuable to the team, but the fact he's been open to being a distributor and trying to get others involved will be a big factor in determining the team's fate down the stretch. The inconsistent Lopez benefited the most in Saturday's win against the Timberwolves, scoring 26 and pulling down 16 rebounds.

They'll need to keep that going this week, as every opponent they face is looking down on them in the Eastern Conference standings.

Knicks notes

- The Knicks are at Indiana Wednesday (7 p.m., MSG). The Pacers are currently the No. 5 seed in the East with a 30-26 record in 2015-16.
- The Knicks signed Jimmer Fredette to a 10-day contract. Fredette, a former first-round pick, was a D-League star for the Knicks' Westchester affiliate and averaging 21.8 points per game.
- Sunday was the fifth anniversary of the Anthony trade.
- Prior to giving Rambis his first win as a Knicks coach, the last time New York had won a game was Jan. 29 vs. Phoenix.

Aries Look at the big picture, but withhold your intentions until you feel you are in a position to win. Time is on your side, and precision and strategy will improve your chance to excel.

Taurus Call in favors owed and be willing to offer an additional incentive to ensure continued support and backup if required. Don't give in to someone lacking integrity.

Gemini You need to take care of your interests. Do and look your best in order to earn respect and gain the help you'll need to deal with any competition you encounter.

Cancer Attend a cultural event or sign up for a trip that will educate you regarding your domestic choices. If you take the initiative, you can improve your life.

Leo Don't get angry or take part in something that will challenge your physical well-being. Check out positive changes that you could make to enhance your personal life.

Virgo Think before you take action. Make your plans carefully and only share them with people you feel could help. Don't take on someone else's responsibilities.

Libra Spend time on self-improvement. Whether it's a physical change or one that will broaden your awareness or skillset, it will result in positive change. Your love life will flourish.

Scorpio Walk away from anyone trying to make you feel guilty. Put time into making alterations at home that will give you the freedom to delve into a potentially compelling project.

Sagittarius Keep an open mind and don't make assumptions based on secondhand information. Focus on being your best, not trying to change others to fit your needs. Fair play will win favors.

Capricorn Getting together with former co-workers will be enlightening. Your experiences and the skills you have developed will prompt an interesting proposal.

Aquarius If you give everyone space, you will be offered the same in return. Working alone will allow you to achieve what you set out to do without interference.

Pisces Play hard and aim to please. Your ability to bring valuable information, strength and original ideas to any partnership you form will bring future opportunities. EUGENIA LAST
